

Get Out the Vote with your friends

Studies show that encouragement to vote from friends or family is very effective in ensuring that reluctant voters vote. Please consider contacting 5, 10, or 25 contacts and remind them to vote. We save our democracy by having as many people as possible vote.

Step 1: Make a story or script to share.

- Think about your reasons for voting.
- Why do you want your friends and family to vote?
- Why is it important to vote?

Issues that we are facing which may be your reason to vote:

Affordability

Health Care

Climate Change

Education

Reproductive Rights

Civil and Voting Rights

Wars

Desire for Peace

Unhoused

Immigration

Step 2: Advise your friend to make a 'vote plan'. Once a person has a plan to vote; they are much more likely to vote. What do they need to know before voting? Provide tools to make those decisions. When will they have time to fill out the ballot? How will they return their ballot?

Step 3: Check in and remind your friend. Offer to help in some way: 'I will do this chore so you can complete your ballot.'
